Advance Showing and August Sale of HIGH-GRADE FURS AND FUR GARMENTS

At Prices the Lowest of the Entire Year Begins This Monday Morning, August Third

This is your invitation to come and see the New Furs for the coming season which we have assembled in this early showing and sale. It is by far the very largest assortment that we have ever brought together for a like occasion. It is the greatest in variety of Furs presented, in the superb beauty and markings of the pelts, the exquisite styles into which they have been fashioned, and the thorough, expert manner in which skilled furriers have shown their handiwork.

It is a veritable exposition of all that shall be absolutely correct in fur fashions, and we guarantee every garment and every piece is true to style, true to name, and that many of the garments or separate pieces will not be obtainable again at these low prices.

We emphasize this fact: These low prices will prevail for the 1st the regular season's prices will be placed upon every piece.

Preparations made far in advance, the acceptance of unusually favorable offerings by furriers who suffered from depression of business in their season, and the benefit of greatly increased discounts from others have brought this assemblage to us at lessened prices.

Selections made in the August Sale are stored, free of charge, in our Cold Storage Vaults on the premises until seasonable weather. A deposit will reserve your purchase for future delivery.

Every woman who is willing to make her selections in this seemingly illogical time will surely receive the benefit of genuine reductions, and will chose from assortments that can be no better,

The Reductions Are 1/4 to 1/3 Less Regular Prices

Amendments in Panama Law Admit Foreign Ships to Registry.

ADMINISTRATION IS GLAD

Framer of Legislation Explains Clause Permits Wiping Out of Unfavorable Legislative Restrictions.

A provision in the Panama Camil act, passed by the Sixty-second Congress, makes it possible for the United States to admit foreign built and owned ships to registry and disarms in advance any criticism which might follow from for criticism which might follow from for-eign powers in the present emregency. This is the attitude of the administra-tion in planning minor amendments to the Panama Canal act. These amend-ments will remove exaction that foreign built ships must be officered by Ameri-cans; that they must be less than fiv-years old, and must meet certain meas-urement requirements. These amend-ments only are necessary, and these ments only are necessary, and thes probably will be offered in the House today under a suspension of the rules by Majority Leader Underwood.

Clause Prohibits Course. The clause which makes it possible fo foreign owned ships to come under American registry is the clause which ostensibly prohibits this very course. It provides that ships under American registry must be owned by Americans or by American companies, all the officers of which are Americans. Thus, a holding company can be incorporated under the laws of one of the United States, dummy officers, each given one share of stock to qualify as directors, could be elected, and then the company could take over foreign owned ships to come under Ameriand then the company could take over the ships and assets of any foreign ship-owning company without an actual change of ownership.

Considering the situation regarding our shipping and the movement of our crops as extremely critical, President Wilson and members of Congress are glad to make use of this subterfuge, by wiping out the few legislative restrictions which now militate against such a course. Judge C. A. Adamson, chairman of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Cominterstate and Foreign Commerce nittee of the House, framed the Panama Canal act. He declared yesterday that with the few amendmenta sug-gested, the change of registry would be

The new party at the camp contains numbers of Greeks, Italians, Russians, Servians, and Germans, and there is much excitement among them as to the probability of fathers and brothers re-turning to tight for their native lands. They chatter and jabber in their foreign tongues strange sounding things with occasional reference to "Ameri-canor, Italianos, Greekos, Serbs, and Germania," the only bits of intelligence the interested English speaking companions can gather from the conversa panions can gather from the coversa-tion. The group is most cosmopolitan, representing practically all of the coun-tries of Europe, but unlike the countries they represent, peace and brotherly har-mony reigns among them, and never in their discussions do the Serbs step on the fat toes of the Russians or the Italians throw verbal spagnetti into the faces of the Germans.

An interesting family now staying at the camp is a Mexican mother, father, and five children, who left Mexico a year ago to avoid the internal troubles there.
